Liz and Alice

Liz was eleven. Alice was ten. They were good friends. The girls lived in Paris. They went to school. Liz and Alice were good pupils. Liz played the piano. Alice went in for swimming. After school they usually went for a walk to the park. There the girls played with a ball and ate ice-cream. Sometimes they watched the ducks and fed them. In the evening they always did their home-work and read interesting books. But last month Liz left for London and Alice left for New York.
