district of the Karaganda region. His name means "stop", translated from the Kazakh word: "Толыма". This name has long been given by the Kazakhs to a male child who was born after a series of deceased newborns or when all the previous newborns were only girls. Toktar was the parents' first ~~boy~~ after the two girls. It comes from the subgenus Taz-Bulbul of the genus Karakesek of the Argyn tribe.

On October 2, 1991, he launched into space together with Alexander Volkov (the crew commander at the launch) and Austrian cosmonaut Franz Fiebig as a research cosmonaut of the "Soyuz TM-13 Spacecraft". During the week, he worked on board the "Mir" orbital complex. The duration of the stay in space was 7 days, 22 hours and 13 minutes. On October 10, 1991, he returned to Earth together with Anatoly Artsebarsky (landing commander) and Austrian cosmonaut Franz Fiebig aboard the "Soyuz TM-12 Spacecraft". On January 14, 2012, he participated in the early elections to the Mazhilis, the lower house of Parliament. He was nominated by the National Social Democratic Party.
