

Problems of young people.

Every generation is unique. The standards of behaviour, ideas and ideals are subject to change. The young people try to realize all things that happen in their life. They try to determine their position in the society and in the world. They think that their parents and grandparents do not understand what they are waiting from their further life. Sometimes their parents forbid them to do what they want to do because they think that their children are too young for something. They usually try to help their children but the children do not see it. The young people enjoy the freedom from old standards of life. They do not want their children to be unhappy and they are anxious about their future.

When children become elder they face with a lot of problems. They often do not want to share any personal information and experience with their parents because they have very different points of view. I think that it is not so bad to know the opinion of my parents on some questions because it can help me to make my own decision. Parents are always ready to understand their children. Of course in some situations the best tactic is not to quarrel with your parents and the only thing you can do is to do what you think is correct. A lot of us try to overcome difficulties making our own decisions. A new generation grows up quicker due to the technological progress and the elder generation should be ready to help their children to overcome many difficulties which they usually meet when they are growing up. There is nobody so close to a child as his/her parents. So the young generation usually do their own first steps in the adult life. They always make decisions which seem to be important in their life. They choose their friends, company, their own way of life and style of behavior.

Besides misunderstanding with his parents there is a lot of worries and problems in the life of a young person. The School time is a good time to think about the future. The young people worry about their personal life and love. It is very important to find someone to be more than just a friend or a partner. Many young people do not know much about the sexually transmitted diseases. Not all of them are ready to have stable relations. And not all of them can be fit enough for their adult life when they become grown-ups. They need support of their parents and they are not ready to have their own children. So they face with the dilemma whether to have a family or to get an education.

Another problem for the young people is the lack of pocket money and the necessity to earn it. Nowadays getting a good education is the main problem not only for the young people but for their parents too. Many school-leavers do not even know what profession they would like to get. A good education is the key to a good profession. At the same time it is difficult to study without the good school education. Parents determine the future of their children very often. They choose their future profession according to their bankroll and their own views. And sometimes the life of school-livers and their future depend on their parents.

Entering universities or colleges many young people lose contacts with their friends and teachers. They start a new life full of worries, care, inspiration, bustle, experience, emotions, victories and mistakes. Many of them feel the burden of living with their parents and they try to separate their life from them by taking an apartment or living in hostels. Some of the students continue to live with parents. It is difficult to have your own flat because it is expensive and you hardly can hope that your parents will afford it. Parents should understand that sooner or later they will have to let their children leave their home to create a new family.

Other problems are connected with the beliefs and values of teenagers and students. Nowadays all people have more rights than before and are free to behave as they want. Teenagers are influenced by mass media in a great extent. They often choose idols for themselves. The young people dress extravagantly, make some inconceivable haircuts or tattoos. Many of them use some slang words in their speech that shock elder people. Many different informal groups such as bikers, hippies, Goths, rockers, skinheads, punks, attract a great deal of young people. Some people try to be individual. But some want to be like them. It is a young subculture. Some of such groups are not dangerous, but some of them are. I think everyone should choose what he
